

J.E. BERRY

"All Scripture is inspired by God and useful to teach us..." 2 Tim. 3:15

J.E. Berry, Author of The Truth About Happiness and Set Free to be Set Apart. She is a beloved wife and mother of five children. J.E. uses her vibrant and compassionate personality to take audiences on a ride with her, as she explores basic Biblical life application in a living room style atmosphere. She brings an inviting, positive energy that creates a comfortable space for audiences to receive.

J.E. has used Authorship and blogging to stretch her literary legs and scripturally address felt needs. Also, in writing and as a speaker she explores things that hinder us from moving forward in our walk with Christ. Such as people pleasing, unhappiness, unforgiveness and much more, to lend a hand in encouraging women as they move forward in grace offered through Christ. She draws from her blemished and painful past to connect with audiences and encourage forward motion.

J.E. Berry has spoken for and facilitated women's events, where she shares her passion to see people come to freedom through reconciliation and a life change through Jesus. She carries this passion for people in all she does.
